Class Advisors

Mr. Caminiti & Ms. Hueg

by Cindy Weir

Mr. Caminiti and Ms. Hueg are our senior class advisors. Mr. Caminiti has been with us since our sophomore year and Ms. Hueg has just joined us this year. Even though they have not worked with us for the full four years, it did not take them long to feel the pulse of the class and find it weak. According to Mr. Caminiti and Ms. Hueg, our class has been extremely unenthusiastic.

Because of this history, our prom tickets cost us a fortune. I guess we are paying the consequences for not being as involved as we should. Some of the class officers were also to blame for the class' inactivity. They did not take it upon themselves to spark the class spirit.

This year's fund raising included bagel sales, candy drives and a potato chip sale with the junior class. The chip sale had to stop though, due to the fact that the seniors stopped showing up to help sell.

However, one very successful even held this year was the talent show. Mr. Caminiti and Ms. Hueg were very pleased at this.

Both our advisors are very active outside of school. Mr. Caminiti enjoys skiing, theater, and most of all, soccer. He considers himself a soccer fanatic and even plays for a semi-pro team here in Stamford. Ms. Hueg loves dancing, and if you attended the talent show you saw her demonstrating this special talent. She also enjoys amateur theater.

This energetic pair have attempted to pull our class through despite student apathy. The seniors should recognize and appreciate their effort.

Who is John Mocker?

by Elyse Mall

Who is John Mocker?

John Mocker is the President of the senior class. He has always been an active member of the Stamford High School Community, holding the office of Vice-President of the Student Council and Treasurer of both the French Club and junior class, as well as being a three year member of the Student Liaison Committee.

John is also a member of the Klondike Club, an off-shoot of the Outdoor Living class.

As President, John is responsible for writing the SHS News Notes in THE ADVOCATE and he also speaks on the local radio station, (WSTC) with Sandy Wyllie, in order to inform the public of school events.

John said that the senior class officers got "Virtually no participation from the seniors until late February when we announced voting for our prom theme [Always and Forever] and we drew in ten to fifteen students who were willing to help at that time."

"We've been selling bagels in the cafeteria," he went on, "And our recent talent show was the most successful event of the year."

Outside of school, John works in the library six days a week. He likes all kinds of outdoor activities, particularly camping, fishing and hiking.

On the weekend, John says he likes to "Relax with friends and unwind."

John says he has "immensely" enjoyed his presidency which meant taking a lot of responsibility for the senior class this year. He often stays after school to work on projects. The seniors owe John thanks for all his efforts and should all support him when he speaks at Commencement. He should have a lot to say.

Graduation set for June 15

by Ronnie Green

Graduation is something that every senior looks forward to. When that day arrives, seniors are the happiest people in the world.

Commencement at Stamford High is a beautiful scene. Families and friends, as well as graduates, are proud to be a part of this wonderful exercise. This year, graduation is scheduled for 1:00 p.m. on June 15th in Boyle Stadium.

I spoke with some of the administrators and teachers at Stamford High and would like to share some of their comments with you. Mr. Markosky said, "If you have never witnessed an SHS graduation you should. It is one of the prettiest, yet shortest graduations in the state. I have attended it for 19 years and it's one of the best. It's short because we want them to get back to their potato salad and root beer."

Mr. Tucci commented, "I am relatively new to SHS and have only seen a few graduations. However, the spectacle, tradition, and drama is something beautiful to behold. There's only one thing that can diminish any graduation, and that's rain. But, seeing young men and women marching down the field at graduation makes me proud to be part of this school.

Mr. Scanlon said, "Graduation is another great event! It is the highlight of the year for every senior! By covering it completely for the past 20 years or more, I have been able to introduce the graduation procession. I deeply appreciate such an honor!"

There is a tradition at Stamford High, first begun many years ago. This practice is based on military tradition. Graduates of Stamford High ring the football field and throw their hats up in the air. This is a wonderful thing to witness. A graduation at SHS is a beautiful experience for both the graduates and the spectators.

The Class of 1980 invites everyone to come and share this special occasion.

The Staff of The Round Table would like to wish the graduating Seniors the BEST OF LUCK with all their future pursuits. The following is a list of those Seniors who notified the Round Table of their plans. Again, GOOD LUCK!

on to those things that her father taught her when she was in Stamford High School. Every morning, Jane's children march around the front yard carrying the American flag. . . Some traditions are never lost!

Heidi Ecenrode, Paula Hogan, and Diana Picciallo took a vacation not too long ago. Somewhat bored with married life in Suburbia, the three friends planned a trip to a small town in Virginia named Winchester. It seems that the Econo-Lodge(Roach) was the site for their overnight accommodations. They spent an exciting week reviewing old parade routes and then spent a marvelous, reminiscent Saturday night in room 14, telling stories about old band trips, drinking from a bottle of C & C Cola(ahem), and intermittently laughing uproariously at the mere mention of the word "Quack." It's so nice to know that after all these years, the girls still get along great.

Incidentally, (or should I say coincidentally), during their trip, the girls ran into Joe Rice and Chris Karukas who were on their way down to the boiler room to partake of some onion dip. . . Whatever that means!?!'

Special thanks to John Mocker for making this recap of the graduating class of 1980 such a success. Sincerest apologies are in order, for the enormous charge for the reunion cost. However, since very little candy money was handed in during June 1980, the senior class treasury is mighty low. Hope you have enjoyed hearing about your former classmates. Looking forward to seeing you at the first reunion of the class of 1980. Just to note. . . the reunion will be held at the Italian Center back in good ol' Stamford.

We, the class of 1980 hereby bequeath...
